Papers included in Geomorphometry 2020 book of abstracts are linked in the program; papers who developed into a journal paper (special issue in Transactions in GIS) have an additional link to the publication.

New papers (new submission to the 2021 conference) will have a web address like this, and a log of the views and downloads. We will integrate these with the new society webpage at International Society for Geomorphometry

You can also post your presentation – please let us know if/when you do so, so we will update links in the program, as soon as they become available. If you can't/don't want to upload your presentation but still want linked in the program, please let us know.

> https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.5260534
>
> or https://zenodo.org/record/5260534
>
> which go to the same page. This is Peter Guth's paper for the conference, which he used to test the procedure.

We have a "community" at Zenodo, which requires our approval to post:

https://zenodo.org/communities/geomorphometry/

Presently it has multiple papers that are new submissions for this year.

We would prefer that you post your page yourself since that gives you more control; let us know if you would like us to do it for you. Note that you can link to supporting data, like the Jupyter notebook for this paper (https://zenodo.org/record/5297224)

1. If you do not have an ORCID, you are encouraged to set one up at https://orcid.org/ (register at the top right) for as many authors as you want
2. Go to https://zenodo.org, and create an account.
3. Pick upload, in the blue bar at the top of the screen.
4. New Upload
5. Add the file I returned to you
6. Put "geomorphometry" for the community name
7. Pick conference paper or presentation for the publication type
8. Add your paper title
9. Add the authors, affiliation, and ORC-ID if there is one.
10. Under description, paste your abstract
11. Add several keywords to advertise your paper
12. If you want can add some other information, such as one paper that has links where you can download a Jupyter notebook
13. All other settings should be fine, but you can add if you want
14. Hit save, and then publish
15. I will have to approve and it's very easy and fast.